THOMPSON'S PATENT TRUSS. Notwithstanding the variety of this important instrument already before the public, the proprietors of a new invention are desirous of offering another, which they do with confidence, after the numerous proofs they have received of its decided superiority over every kind of Truss heretofore in use—it is constructed on strictly philosophical principles, and so perfectly adapted to the anatomy of the part, that no injury can possibly result from its continued use—on the contrary, the Truss which is now offered, will absolutely cure a large proportion of recent cases. Certificates to this effect can be exhibited, and to convince the patient of the agreeableness and ease with which it can be worn, six days will be allowed to every one who buys the instrument, to try it, after which he may return it, and receive his money, if not fully satisfied.
Persons residing at a distance, can be warranted a fit, by sending their measure round, and describing as nearly as possible the seat of their complaint.

DR. PHELPS'S ARCANUM.—For the cure of the worst diseases of the skin, ulcers, sores, scrofula or king's evil, erysipilis and mercurial diseases, rheumatism, white swellings, liver affections, costiveness of the bowels, general debility &c. And such diseases as are caused by an impure or bad condition of the blood. It is likewise particularly recommended to those whose constitutions are broken by habits of luxury and intemperance, the injudicious use of quinine and mercury, and badly cured diseases, by unskillful or neglected medical treatment, and all those whose lungs and chest are diseased by remote causes in the system.
The Arcanum has proved itself by years of experience far superior in its effects to the Panacea of Swaim, Catholicon of Potter, or the French Robs. In testimony of the above statement, we refer to the opinion of Dr Saml L. Mitchell, of New York, Dr Jones of Baton Rouge, Dr Archer of Virginia, Dr Godman of Philadelphia, who have investigated the properties and efficacy of the article, and affirmed it as being superior to all medicines in their knowledge, for the removal of the diseases above named. Price $2 per bottle.
Boylston, Mass. Aug. 1st, 1835.

In the year 1830 I requested Dr Phelps to visit a daughter of mine, aged about 15 years, having a distention of the spine or back bone, and whose general health had always been feeble.
The curvature of the spine, at that time, had acquired a hopeless and singularly disfigured appearance, and the distention of the back bone corresponded with the distortion, presenting to the beholder a deformity calculated to excite the deepest sympathy. From the first appearance of this disease, I had solicited the most skillful of the profession, whose attendance, various prescriptions and remedies were unattended with success or benefit, and a word, the progressive march of the disease bid defiance to the ingenuity of skill, and the power of medicine.
It was under these circumstances that we commenced the use of the Arcanum, which was perseveringly administered for several months. Her general health soon began to improve, and the progress of the disease was gradually arrested, by this medicine only, and the use of the salt water bath.
From this period, her strength and energies of mind and body were evidently improving, and the deformity has subsided with the growth of years. At this time, we were more than 4000 miles since we adopted the treatment of Dr Phelps, my daughter is in the enjoyment of good health, to our astonishment and admiration. She has been a teacher or instructor for two years past.
M. DAVENPORT.

The great demand for the Arcanum, and its remarkable effects in chronic diseases, give it the decided preference to any other medicine. See Medical Advertiser.
DR. CHAPMAN'S COUGH MIXTURE.

Botanical Drops!
Continue unrivalled for the prevention, relief, and cure of these complaints. In proof of which read the following remarkable cure of a case of 13 years standing:
Extract of a letter from S. M. My leg, which before did not look like a human limb, is now entirely healed up, (after receiving every other application for 13 years!) Previous to taking your Botanical Drops, I had given up all hope of relief.
Another Case.—An Agent writes:—"There is a person taking the Botanical Drops, evidently with the greatest advantage." He declares, to use his own words, "It is doing wonders for him," and is, as it were, "snatching him from the grave."
Numerous instances have occurred where persons were pinning away a miserable existence, nothing they could procure affording them permanent relief, until they had made use of the above invaluable Medicine.
They are also the best Spring and Autumnal Physic.

But the second paragraph requires special attention. "P." charges upon me the use of authority. "He (that is, "P.") made an assertion without the least proof, &c." Now will "P." be good enough to produce that assertion? I apprehend it will be difficult to find it. Indeed I had supposed that one of his intendeds had a direct pointing to the circumstance that I guessed, and did not assert.

But to be serious, and put this matter on its true ground. In the course of my first remarks, after intimating that small Banks might be as safe as large ones, if conducted on the principle prescribed by law, I added the query, "Is it not more the custom now with small Banks than with large ones, to limit the amount on individual loans, to 10 or even 5 per cent. of its capital?" And added an opinion that, if an investigation were made, it would be found to be so. Now in this I asserted nothing—and based no argument on the opinion that I should not be willing to have stand or fall upon its correctness after an investigation.

In answer to all this part of my remarks, "P." in reply says, "Again, it is not much more a custom now with small Banks to limit," &c. (quoting my words with his emphatic negative)—and adds, (shall I say impudently) "If he," "P." is not now satisfied upon these points let him inquire personally at the Banks," &c. To this I replied, as he quotes, that it was authority and not argument, &c., and asked, for the sake of keeping the point at issue in view, "Would 'P.' like to go into a court (not court, as you erroneously printed it) and call the names?" That is, will "P." give the names of great Banks, while I do of small ones, which by their by-laws limit the amount of loans to individuals to 10 or 5 per centum of their capital?

Now, I leave the point for those who feel any interest in this matter to decide who it is that urges assertion without proof, authority and not argument.

The Hunchback.—Miss Tree's personation of the character of Julia at the Tremont, on Monday night, in general, far surpassed her two preceding performances in that character. She was evidently in excellent spirits. In one point only could we give the preference to her former efforts. In the celebrated passage in act 5, scene 2,

"Do it!" "Nor leave the task to me," she had hitherto given "Do it!" with deep and ominous vehemence, rather than with the loud and stunning exclamation adopted by other actresses. We regarded Miss Tree's reading as decidedly the more correct, and were sorry to perceive on Monday night, that she fell into the old rant in giving the passage.

We noticed, with regret, one or two ill timed and senseless mistakes by Mr. Hield, as Master Walter:—in act 2, scene 3, for

"Thy cousin living they reported dead!"

Mr. Hield gave us—

"Thy cousin they reported living!"

In act 5, scene 1, instead of saying to Helen—

"Here comes your cousin;—he shall be your bridesman!"

Mr. Hield said—

"Here comes your cousin;—he shall be your husband!"

Thus in fact exposing the very purpose which he wished to conceal from Helen.

Again, when he makes his exit in this scene, leaving Helen and Modus together, he entirely omits, but why we cannot guess, the expressive lines—

"Now, (aside) if they do not find out how beat their hearts, I have no skill, not I, in feeling pulses."

Not to be partial, however, we would give Mrs. Richardson, as Helen, a gentle admonition. In act 2, scene 5, where Modus attempts to kiss Helen, she says—

"Soft! my hand thanks you, cousin—for my lips I keep them for a husband!"

Mrs. R. destroyed the effect of this, by saying—

"I keep them for my cousin!"

Gentleman George, has hit them quite hard at Drury Lane. The Morning Chronicle, after noticing Forrest's Brutus,—which it pronounces a splendid performance, though heavy in some parts—says—

"The Critic was afterwards performed with Mr. Barrett, another American actor, in the character of Puff. The bills by way of a puff preliminary," describes him as "principal comedian of the theatres in the United States." He is a remarkably tall young man, with a handsome figure and easy deportment, a good voice, and too much of the American accent. His performance of Puff was lively and pleasant, and it was well received."

"The English writer might have quoted Fanny Kemble—

"the longest human being I ever saw."

Yankees in Trouble.—It appears by the Montreal Transcript of the 23d inst. that two Americans, named John Sterns and Elliott Pasm Sawyer, have been committed to gaol in that city, for having attempted to pass ninety-nine counterfeit five dollar bills, purporting to be of the "Amherst Bank," Massachusetts. After they had been taken to the police office, a parcel containing one hundred more, of the same notes, was found in a stable attached to the premises where they had taken up their lodgings. They went to Montreal to purchase Canadian horses.

A Mr. Rooke, a dancing master in England, has just invented a method to obviate the danger arising from the points and switches upon railways. It is stated that he renders switches as safe as any other part of the railway, without the necessity of a man being in attendance. The engine performs the work of putting the switches right itself, and in whatever direction the engine wishes to travel, there he can go, no matter whether the points have been misplaced or not.

The Feast of Tabernacles.—A Poem for Music. By Henry Ware, Jr.—This poem represents the Scenes in a Jewish Temple on the third day of "The Feast of Tabernacles." It is written in a rich, easy, flowing style—well adapted to the purpose for which it is designed—the language is fervid and eloquent, and uttered with appropriate music, must be sublime. It is to be performed at the Odeon by the choir of the Boston Academy of Music, under the direction of Mr. Zeuner.

Benj. H. Greene has published, in a very neat little volume, a Memoir of the late Rev. BENARD WHITMAN, by his brother. Mr. Whitman was one of the most able writers among the Unitarians, and his controversy with Professor Stuart will long be remembered for the force, copiousness, and power of its style.

"Means Without Living," is the title of another "experiment," just published by Weeks, Jordan, & Co.—who the author is "none can tell." It appears to be a general attack upon humbug.

It used to take two hundred and ninety-two yards of cloth to swathe a body after it was embalmed: the body first remained in pickle seventy days, and from this arose the saying, we suppose, that such a one is "in a bad pickle."

The account of the election of Town Officers in Charlestown, as published in the Advocate of Tuesday, is a gross misrepresentation. The Advocate says that "the democrats who passed the resolutions approving of the course of the members of the Legislature in relation to the Boston Collectors' office, carried their whole ticket for town officers," &c. The meeting of democrats who passed the resolutions above referred to, consisted only of about forty individuals, and the vote cast for the democratic candidates was five hundred and seven—therefore, it was evidently not the resolution democrats who carried the ticket. The ticket elected was supported without reference to the Custom House question; but as evidence that the Advocate faction gained no triumph, we would remind the reader that one of the firmest and ablest democrats in Charlestown, CHARLES THOMPSON, Esq., who opposed the proceedings relative to the Boston Collectors' office in the Convention of the members of the Legislature, was chosen Moderator by a large majority; and among the individuals elected Selectmen, is ABRAHAM GOODRIDGE, a gentleman whose election to office has been warmly opposed by the Advocate within a month, and whom it declared it must always oppose for consistency's sake. The friends of the Advocate also exerted themselves to get the name of Mr. Stone upon the ticket for Selectman, and he was nominated as a candidate in committee, but rejected when reported to the meeting; yet it is all a triumph for the Advocate! For Mr. Robinson! But if the Advocate be satisfied with the result we certainly are, and think that the Charlestown democrats are worthy to live on the top of Bunker Hill, instead of at its foot. "Right side up" yet.

"A case of suicide under peculiar circumstances, occurred in this city on Saturday last, the particulars of which, as far as we have been able to ascertain them, are these:—A young German gentleman named Eichart, a clerk in one of our most respectable mercantile houses, committed suicide, at his lodgings in Maiden lane, by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a pair of razors! He came home about ten o'clock in the morning from the counting room and commenced writing letters in the parlor. After he had completed them, he repaired to his chamber, and when his friend came home to dinner, on entering the room, he found Eichart lying on his bed, weltering in his blood but still alive. As he entered, the unfortunate young man pointed to some letters lying on the table, which he had written to his friends advising them of the act he was about to commit. The gentleman immediately gave the alarm when physicians were sent for, whose services were of no avail, as the wind pipe was severed in two. He lingered till about nine o'clock in the evening, retaining his senses to the last, when he expired."

Eichart was about 26 or 27 years of age, a native of Leipzig, and of respectable connections. He was remarkably temperate, but of a very melancholy turn of mind, having frequently expressed a dread of becoming insane, the idea of which, he said, he could never endure. He has frequently remarked, particularly of late, that he would sooner commit suicide, than become the inmate of a Lunatic Asylum, in a foreign land, among strangers."

The Richmond Enquirer of the 23d inst. says—"We understand that the family of the illustrious Madison, are preparing for the press five or six volumes of his MSS. One volume is to be devoted to Constitutional Doctrines—and the others to his interesting Correspondence. These are, of course, exclusive of his Reports of the old Congress, and of the Federal Convention, for the purchase of which the last Congress have appropriated $30,000."

From Gibraltar.—By the ship Rambler, Capt. Baxter, the Messrs. Topliffs have received a copy of the Gibraltar Chronicle of the 30th ult. The sufferings of the inhabitants, in many parts of the kingdom, in consequence of the civil war, are represented as very great. The Queen's forces in Catalonia are estimated at 14,000 infantry, 400 cavalry, and 2-12 mountain batteries.

The New York Journal of Commerce says, that the Merchants there cannot be coaxed or frightened to fail, to any serious extent. They are rich, says the Journal, and this fact having been abundantly proved, confidence will be resumed. The stoppages have been very few, and most of these exhibit ample means to pay.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Tuesday, March 28.—In the Senate, the bill in addition to an act concerning the Surplus Revenue, was taken up. Mr. Parker moved an amendment, providing that one fifth part of the Surplus shall be invested, and the income thereon applied for the benefit of common schools in the several towns. This question was taken by yeas and nays, and decided in the negative—yeas 13, nays 19. The bill was then passed to be engrossed.

On motion of Mr. Fairbanks, the motion to reconsider the vote by which the Warren Bank bill was rejected, was taken up and the question was determined in the affirmative—yeas 19, nays 14. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

The motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate rejected the bill to establish the Howard Bank, was taken up. The question was taken by yeas and nays, and decided in the negative—yeas 12, nays 16.

In the House, Mr. Ruggles, of Fall River, presented a petition of Andrew Roberson, for a modification of the law concerning the education of children employed in manufacturing establishments.

The House proceeded in pursuance of assignment, to the consideration of the Resolves, providing for an amendment of the Constitution, in relation to the basis of the Senate, which was read, and on motion of Mr. Stowell, of Peru, in defiance of postponement.

A bill concerning the powers of assessors was read a second time. Mr. Richardson, of Boston, moved a recommitment, and Mr. White, of Taunton, moved the previous question, which being sustained, the main question was taken, and the bill was ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

Loss of Schooner Wm. Garland.—A letter received in Baltimore from Mr. John Adams, Commissioner of wrecks for Northampton County, Va., dated 19th March, states that the schooner William Garland, late Dane, master, was stranded on Smith Island, on Monday night, the 13th inst. Having sprung a leak in the Gulf, they deemed it advisable to make the next port. The captain and three of the crew were washed overboard. The effect and three of the crew were washed overboard. The effect and three of the crew were washed overboard.

The sale will be advertised in the Norfolk Beacon, to give those concerned an opportunity to have an agent present.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Stamen versus Officers of a Whale Ship.—No less than three complaints were primarily examined before His Honor Judge Davis, yesterday. The first was preferred against Capt. Henry Bigelow, of the ship James Maury, by five of the crew, for keeping them on a short allowance on an outward and homeward voyage, and even while cruising after whales. In making a statement, E. Smith, Jr., for the prosecution, said the men had been driven to such a strait as to steal shuck, and also to eat pieces of rope.

The Judge intimated, that it would be of no use to enter into the particulars at present, as the Circuit Court would very soon meet.

Mr. Choute, for the defendant, replied, that Capt. Bigelow was prepared with evidence, and a decisive answer to the charge brought against him.

Capt. B. was then ordered to give bonds for his appearance in the sum of $800.

The second complaint was preferred against George Whitehouse, late mate of the James Maury, by David Mansfield, for an assault on the head, with a lance-pole. The facts in this case are these:—The complainant and defendant were in a boat, at sun-down, and half a mile from the ship, going across the stern, the mate struck a whale, and ordered the hands to pull up quick. At this moment, on account of the approaching darkness, the ship sent up colors ordering the boat alongside, and therefore when the mate gave the order to pull quick after the whale, Mansfield did not increase his exertions at the oar, and the mate struck him twice with the lance-pole, as alleged. At this moment they were within five rods of the whale. In testifying, Mansfield said, that he did not pull as hard as he could, because he considered it to be dangerous to be among whales after dark.

George Underwood, from whose testimony we selected the principal facts, said that Mansfield pulled as hard as the rest, and that it was always uncertain how long it would take to get near enough to lance a whale. The assault evidently grew out of a difference of opinion among the men and the mate as to the safety and expediency of pursuing the harpooned whale, in a direction from the ship, and among other whales, after dark. Though Mansfield "had two bumps on his head as large as hen's eggs," he was not disabled for duty.

The third complaint was preferred against William S. Chase, the 2d mate, by Samuel Gandall. The mate thought Gandall was asleep on the windlass, between three and four o'clock in the morning, and sanded him with water. As the first darning didn't start Gandall, Chase gave him a bucket full, and then the empty bucket; but all to no purpose. Chase then attempted to pull him off the windlass, and before the rencounter terminated, Gandall was struck on the head and in the face with the light of a rope, and also with a broadsword. Of course several approved specimens of quarter-deck retorts, recriminations, and defences passed between the parties, which would not look well in print.

In the last two cases, Mr. Choute made an argument for the defence, and Mr. Smith will reply to-day.

POLICE COURT.—Miss Elizabeth Heywood, of sweet sixteen, engaged herself in the family of Rev. Seth Bliss, as "help," and the next evening helped herself to wearing apparel belonging to sundry females in the house, together with $300, in cash, amounting in all to the value of $270. Yesterday morning Constable Winthrop Gray Rabbit, Esq., captured her in Washington street, while she was making preparations to take the Lowell cars. She had a part of the stolen garments on, and the remainder was found in her hand-box, in Amory Hall. For want of bonds, she was committed for trial at the Municipal Court.

Richard Hastings, a colored employee in the paint room of the Tremont Theatre, was sent to the House of Correction for four months, for stealing two gowns and other stage properties.

Fire.—The fire about half past 7 o'clock, last evening, was in the upper story of the building on the corner of Court and Tremont streets. It originated in a closet, and soon communicated to the roof, but by the prompt assistance of the Fire Department, was extinguished with but trifling damage.

Municipal.—At a meeting of the Mayor and Aldermen on Monday afternoon, communication from Dr. Smith, stating, that during the past week, a female having the varioloid, was removed from Blossom street to the Island, who will be able to return by Saturday. A colored man, also, was taken from the Chelsea Hospital to the Island, at the urgent request of the steward, who had a mild form of small pox. One severe case of small pox at present exists in the city, and two or three cases of varioloid, which were nearly well before the character of the disease was understood. Read and filed.

Ordered, That the committee on the common, to be joined, be a committee to prepare fire works to be exhibited on the evening of the 4th of July next, at a cost not exceeding $1,300.

The joint committee appointed to consider if any alterations should be made in the ordinance relating to the interment of the dead, reported an ordinance, which was adopted—That no person shall remove out of the city the body of a deceased person for interment, without having first obtained a license so to do from the superintendent of burials; and it is hereby made the duty of said superintendent to grant the same, unless some good cause shall appear for refusal—that any person who shall offend against the same shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.

Extract of a Commercial Letter dated Havre, March 3d.

"Our market for the last three days has been quite inactive, and the prices of last week are barely supported. 500 bales of old cotton valued five months ago at 13 1/2 a 150, were sold yesterday at 1 1/2, leaving a loss of from 3 to 5 cts. per lb. Purchasers from the interior are lukewarm and buy very sparingly. We have several cotton arrivals from the United States. Wheat has fallen to 42 francs."
